Big Oil Producing Center in Sumatra Is Latest Capture

By CLYDE A. FARNSWORTH
Associated Press War Editor
The Japanese, already victors at Singapore, gained another steppingstone today in their southward offensive—Palembang in southern Sumatra—but the United Nations were exacting a frightful price for this gain on the approach of Java.

United States, Dutch and British planes, furling Bangka Strait with their bombs, scored direct hits on two Japanese cruisers and five crowded transports. One of the cruisers was set afire.

The United Nations command from its Java headquarters announced that fighters and bombers had caused "great devastation" among the Japanese moving into the Palembang region.

The smoke of the Dutch "scorched earth" policy hung over the great oil refining center. The damage, estimated at $100,000,000, was said to be the greatest piece of deliberate destruction by man of his own property.

Consolidation of the Japanese victory at Singapore undoubtedly will permit increased pressure on General Douglas MacArthur and his American-Philippine force in the Bataan peninsula.

Today's war department communique reported "heavy enemy artillery fire in Bataan during the past 24 hours," and intermittent infantry fighting in several sectors.

The battle of Malaya has ended in a bloody but complete Japanese victory which planted the Rising Sun banner on the battlements of Singapore.

The crucial battle of the Netherlands East Indies has started with Japanese capture of the Palembang foothold in southern Sumatra, on the invasion road to Java, and Australia is girding for her struggle.

These closely linked developments in the southward drive of a surprisingly powerful foe were in turn deeply related to the other major Japanese drive in Burma, to cut China off from the supplies of the other United Nations and force the eastern gateway to India.

That, briefly, was the war picture today in the western Pacific region. The United Nations evidently envisaged nothing more than holding actions until their full war potential could be mobilized for the eventual counter-thrust against Japan.

AUSTRALIA IS IN FEAR OF ATTACK
Sydney Australia, Feb. 16.—(P)—Prime Minister John Curtin declared today that "everything we have, everything which belongs to us must now be mobilized" for the battle of Australia, as a result of Singapore's fall.

The attitude of the government is that a Japanese attack on the commonwealth—a large scale attack from air and sea which may break at any moment—has become inevitable.

Determined New Nazi Attempt to Get Immediate Control of French Fleet Is Forecast As a Result of Germany's Success in Uniting Surface Vessels

DEEPENS SOMBER MOOD OF CAPITAL LEADERS

Washington, Feb. 16.—(P)—A determined new Nazi attempt to get immediate control of the French fleet was forecast today as members of congress familiar with naval matters said Germany's success in uniting its surface fleet in home waters portended a realignment of sea forces all over the world.

Chairman Walsh (D-Mass.) of the senate naval affairs committee told reporters that the Reich might be able to muster a battle fleet capable of challenging the divided units of the United Nations, if Hitler could add French sea power to the Nazi strength which was reinforced in home parts Thursday when two battleships and a cruiser forced the Dover Straits.

Most legislators seemed to believe that the Germans would soon serve an ultimatum on Vichy—if they have not already done so—to deliver up a major part of the French fleet still afloat.

At the beginning of the year France was reported to have available for immediate service one battleship, one aircraft carrier, 14 cruisers, 52 destroyers and 60 submarines.

The ultimate disposition of the French fleet has been a continuing cause of concern to the United States ever since the collapse of France in June, 1940. It has been an important consideration in Washington's relations with the Petain government in Vichy, and on several occasions both the United States and Great Britain have made it plain that they would interpret it as a hostile act if Vichy yielded to German pressure for control of the French fleet.

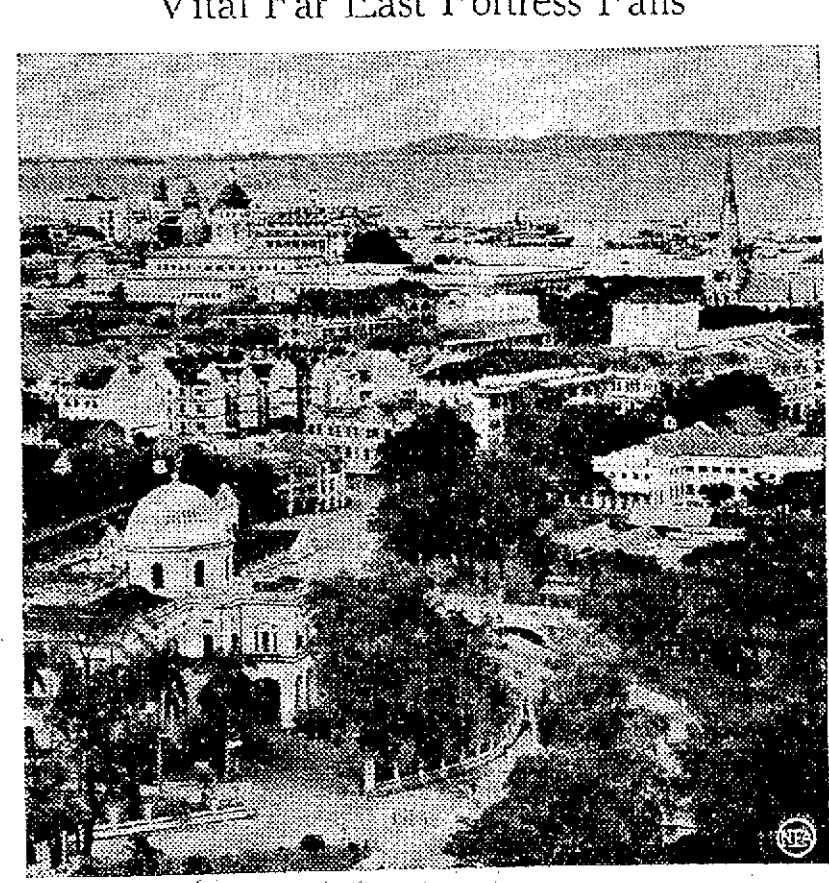

Renewed uneasiness over the French fleet served only to deepen the somber mood which a monotonous string of Allied reverses has built up inexorably in the capital. (Turn To Page Nine)

PITTSBURGH THEATRE MANAGER IS HELD UP

Pittsburgh, Feb. 16.—(P)—Two gunmen held up and bound the manager of the Stanley Theater, one of the largest in the downtown district, and escaped with $7,537 today.

Manager Charles Eagle said one of the men was seated in an aisle and the other in office at the time he entered the theater. After forcing him to open a safe containing weekend receipts, they bound his hands with his own necktie and taped his mouth and ankles with adhesive tape.

Eagle later rolled across the floor, reached a telephone and spread the alarm.

Democrats Await Governor's Address Before Predicting Extent of Support Or Opposition

WILL CUT DISTRICTS

Harrisburg, Feb. 16.—(P)—Democratic leaders today awaited the governor's message opening a special session of the legislature Tuesday before predicting the extent of their support or opposition to his program.

Governor James called the session for 3 p. m. tomorrow primarily to pass a bill cutting the state's congressional districts from 34 to 32, required by the 1940 census. Agreement has been reached between Republicans and Democrats in advance of the session as to how to accomplish the reduction.

James included only congressional reapportionment and postponement of the effective date of a new parole system beyond June 1 in his proclamation summoning the Assembly. He left the way open for inclusion of other subjects, however, and was reported to be (Turn To Page Nine)

END OF DEFENSE AREA REACHED KNOX DECLARES

Portsmouth, Va., Feb. 16.—(P)—Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox hailed the launching of the 55,000 ton battleship Alabama here today—nine months ahead of schedule—as the end of the "defense area" and the beginning of a "war era."

"And ships will pour from our yards in ever increasing quantities," he said, "bringing us supremacy at sea; ships which will bring us victory," the secretary said.

The Alabama, the sixth battleship to be launched under the defense building program, and the last of a class of four which includes the Massachusetts, the Indiana, and the South Dakota has improved over her sister ships, some of which have already joined the fleet, Secretary Knox revealed.

RELIANCE URGED BY CHURCHILL

Prime Minister of England, at One of Blackest Hours of History, Assures His People Question Now is How Strong Remains Faith in Leadership

ADMITS 'HEAVY AND FAR-REACHING DEFEAT'

By the Associated Press
London, Feb. 16.—Winston Churchill, standing before his people at one of the blackest hours of their history, has assured them that the United Nations "will be found fully capable of squaring all accounts" and the question before Britain today is how strong remains her faith in his leadership.

Although he bore a message of disaster, the prime minister declared that ultimately the overwhelming fact of the war would be that "the power of the United States and its vast resources... are in it with us."

It fell to the prime minister yesterday to broadcast to the empire the most dismal news for its people since Dunkerque.

"Singapore has fallen. All the Malay peninsula has been overrun." That bare statement was all that Britain was told of the loss of her greatest fortress and the fate of her valiant defenders except for Japan's announcement that Singapore had surrendered unconditionally.

But Churchill frankly acknowledged it to be a "heavy and far-reaching defeat" and, though he was pleading for confidence, he told Britain in unvarnished words:

"Other dangers gather about us out there and none of the dangers which we have hitherto faced successfully at home and in the East are in any way diminished."

The prime minister did not mention the feat of a German naval victory in the North Sea. (Turn To Page Nine)

WOULD LIMIT FITNESS PLAN TO SERVICE MEN

Washington, Feb. 16.—(P)—James M. Landis, director of civilian defense, declared in senate appropriations committee testimony made public today that he favored limiting the national physical fitness program to men about to enter the army and production workers, with entertainment aspects eliminated.

Landis made this assertion during hearings on a $100,000,000 civilian defense appropriation. Committee members told him that OGD activities and appointments had caused a falling off of public support for the war effort.

"It (OGD) appears as a sorry joke in the eyes of the plain people of this country," Senator McKellar (D-Tenn.) asserted during questioning of Landis. "You have been making this organization a laughing stock."

"The people of this country don't want to have their civilian defense built up of fan dancers and artists or entertainers," Landis told the committee that to abolish the OGD's arts division, headed by Melvyn Douglas, the actor, as a consultant, would mean "losing this potentially great contributor to the war effort," but he said he had nothing to do with the employment of Mayris Chaney, a dancer friend of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, in the physical fitness program.

COMMITTEE OF 20 WILL DECIDE COURSE OF DEMS

Will Canvass Gubernatorial Possibilities to Determine Whether the Party Should Unite Behind One Man

INVOLVES PARTY RULE

Harrisburg, Feb. 16.—(P)—A Democratic committee of 20 today began a canvass of gubernatorial possibilities to determine whether the party should unite behind one candidate in the May 19 primary.

The committee was instructed to recommend a course of positive action that would lead to victory in the November elections.

Directly involved was a controversy over whether the state committee should back one candidate as provided by party rule. National Committeeman David L. Lawrence says it should but U. S. Senator Joseph P. Guffey and State Chairman Meredith Meyers want the committee to stay out of the primary.

All expressed the opinion that any issues raised in the primary would be amicably settled with the party united for the November election. Guffey and Lawrence split in 1938 and Republicans captured the governorship.

Meyers has thrown his personal support behind Dr. Luther A. Harr, former Philadelphia city treasurer, while Lawrence has been reported favoring Auditor General F. Clair Ross. Guffey said he would have a candidate.

The committee said in a report that the training program already had provided instruction for 70,000 pilots, more than 21,000 of whom had gone into the armed services, and advised the house:

TO BE CHARGED WITH BURGLARY AT YOUNGVILLE

Donald Hankins, 19, of Youngsville, will be taken before a justice of the peace this afternoon on burglary and larceny charges as a result of his part in the robbery of the Youngsville skating rink last December.

Accompanied by Deputy Sheriff L. E. Linder and Private Leslie G. Fobes, of the Pennsylvania Motor Police, the New York officers visited several places in the vicinity of Pittsfield and Youngsville, where they recovered a quantity of articles believed to have been taken by the county youths. When S. M. "Monty" McClure went to the court house today to register for possible military service under the selective service act, he was enrolled by his father, W. L. McClure, chief registrar for that district. However, the experience was not new to either father or son, for it was just 23 years ago that "Monty" registered for the draft in World War 1 at Danville, Montour county, and then, as now, his father was a member of the board and did the enrolling.

total registered manpower for all purposes.
Several states began the current registration a few days ago to prevent congestion at listing boards. Today's registration hours were from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m. local times. Government and private employers had been urged to give their workers sufficient time to go to registration centers and answer nine simple questions.

These were name, residence, mailing address if other than place of residence, telephone, age and date of birth, place of birth, name and address of nearest relative, employer's name and address, and place of employment.
With these questions answered, registrants were to be given cards to keep on their person at all times. Local boards later will shuffle these registrations and allot each one a serial number. When this has been done, a national lottery will be held here—probably next month—to assign the order in which registrants are to be called.

Harrisburg, Feb. 16.—(P)—Thousands of men between 20 and 45 years enrolled in Pennsylvania today for possible service in the nation's armed forces.

Schools, taprooms and liquor stores were closed by order of Governor James as local draft boards estimated they would register 750,000 men from all walks of life before nightfall.

A large number took advantage of a special order of the selective service headquarters to enroll over the week end.

Arrangements were made to register workers on the spot in certain industrial centers where vast numbers are employed in factories and shops hastening the output of war materials.
The registration places set up by the 422 local draft boards opened at 7 a. m. and Governor James directed that all persons waiting in line at 9 p. m. were to be registered before closing.

TIONESTA HIGH STUDENT DIES FROM INJURIES

Verle Cletus Donahay, 16, junior in the Tionesta High school, died in the Oil City hospital early Saturday morning as a result of an injury sustained on Wednesday, February 11, when he was mangled in a manure spreader, the injury necessitating the amputation of a leg.

The youth, son of Mrs. Marie Jensen Donahay, remained home on the day of the accident to help with some work. He had hitched a team to the spreader and in some manner one of the reins became tangled. Young Donahay went out on the tongue to remedy the matter when a dog frightened the horses, throwing him to the ground and beneath the spreader. The machine mangled the left leg, and although he was immediately rushed to the hospital for treatment, it became necessary to amputate the leg on Friday.

The youth's brother, John Donahay, was killed in an accident at the Tionesta dam on September 30, 1940.

He was born at Starr on April 17, 1925, the son of George and Marie Jensen Donahay, and had lived there all his life. His father had been dead for several years.

Surviving are his mother and the following brothers and sisters: Roy Donahay, at home; Leila D. Donahay, of Tionesta; Cyril Donahay, of Ravenna, Ohio, and Vera Donahay, of Oil City.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday from the Mt. Zion Lutheran church, German Hill, with the Rev. Paul Rueckwald, pastor of the Venus Lutheran church, officiating.

McKenney On Bridge

GAME IS REACHED BY CONVENTIONAL NO TRUMP RESPONSE

BY WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority

On February 14, 1936, bridge lost one of the most popular card players the world has ever seen—Louis H. Watson.

With Ely Culbertson, Watson developed the four-five no trump convention, from which hosts of other combinations sprang. His book, "Watson on the Play of the Hand," was the most complete book ever written on the play of the cards.

Here is an interesting hand taken from Watson's book. It was played in a tournament in 1930, with Watson sitting South.

♠ 83	♥ J75	♦ AJ32	♣ AKQ2
♠ 4	♥ KQ104	♦ Q886	♣ Q1054
♠ 952	♥ A86	♦ 1074	♣ J73
♠ 932	♥ K5	♦ 86
♠ AKQ1076	♥ 932	♦ K5	♣ 86
Duplicate—None vul.
South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	2 N.T.	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	3 N.T.	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	Pass	Pass
Opening—♥ K.			14

The defense came under attack, then led a club, which was won in dummy with the king. Watson cashed the ace and king of spades and found the bad trump break. In order to make the contract, he would have to pick up East's trumps by a coup, since dummy had no more trumps to lead through East.

To get an end-play, declarer would have to shorten his own trumps to East's length, by cutting, and finally leave the lead with North when the East and South hands were reduced to trumps only. The first move was to go back to dummy with the ace of clubs and then ruff a club.

Watson needed two more entries to dummy, with only the ace of diamonds left. So he unhesitatingly led the five of diamonds and finessed the jack when West played low. Note that West could have set the contract by jumping in with the diamond queen to force the ace, but he did not. The fourth club was then ruffed out, the king of diamonds overtaken by the ace, and then the lead through East at the twelfth trick killed his trumps.

SOUTH AMERICA NATIVE SPEAKS HERE TONIGHT

The Chicago Association of Commerce administrative secretary, C. W. Judd, commented: "Mr. Dussaq handled his subject with exceptional skill and we were exceedingly well pleased."

That was the Dussaq, Rene Dussaq, who is scheduled to appear in Warren tonight at the Woman's Club Auditorium under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. Lecture-Forum.

Young Mr. Dussaq will speak on a subject with which, among speakers, in a parallel topic, he alone has the background for actual and accurate factual knowledge. His subject is "A South American's View of South America." Mr. Dussaq is a native of Argentina; he is a naturalized American citizen. When he responded to the call of the army draft it was found that physical disability left from a terrific accident in which his spine, five ribs, and his left leg were broken, barred his serving as a soldier. "I serve as a speaker," states this brilliant young intellectual. "South America must be made known to North America. I shall introduce one to the other."

He does so with a thoroughness, directness and clear-sightedness on the political, economic and social situation which holds his audiences in eager attention. He speaks easily his English is quite perfect, he is master of it as he is master of two other tongues. "I think in Spanish," he explains. "I translate in my mind into French, and then I translate the French to English." This is a most astonishing feat, for Mr. Dussaq has a rapid and distinct delivery. He has the saving grace of humor and is utterly natural on the platform.

Mr. Dussaq in person is cast for the role of hero he has been in movies. "I prefer the life of study and the intellect," he explains, and yet in physical feats he has few equals. He is a tennis champion, a swimming star, a deep-sea diver, superb on horseback, and he pilots a plane.

A BRIDE'S PRIDE

STILL the supreme test of the bride's baking ability, baking powder biscuits are easily made in three steps recommended by the Rumford Kitchen. First, sift together 2 cups all-purpose flour, ½ teaspoon salt and 3 teaspoons Rumford Baking Powder.

Add 2 tablespoons of shortening to flour and mix until thoroughly blended. With a spatula or knife mix to a very soft dough with ¾ cup of cold milk.

Turn onto well-floured board and roll out to about three-quarters inch thickness, handling as little as possible. Cut with biscuit cutter and place on lightly greased pan. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) 12 to 14 minutes. Makes 14 to 15 biscuits.

SINGAPORE
In the opinion of Carl C. Cranmer, Associated Press Foreign News staff, by the capture of Singapore Japan unlocks the door to the Indian Ocean and perhaps to the riches of the Netherlands East Indies.

The key had been held by Britain for 123 years.
Now the flag of the rising sun flies there.

The Japanese fleet may now rest in security on a broad anchorage of 22 square miles behind shore guns,
mined passages and air fields.

On a cruise of 2,000 miles and back it can sweep
the Bay of Bengal and the Indian Ocean to Calcutta—
threaten all the east coast of India.

To the gulf of Martaban is an easy voyage. Sea blockade, besides the land forces now released for an offensive across the Salween into Burma, now threatens the backdoor of Chiang Kai-Shek.

To the east, the Japanese fleet by a 2,000-mile cruise can pass all the Dutch East Indies and attack the west coast of Australia.

Because ships require coaling or fueling stations
and airplanes require landing fields, Japan's power based at Singapore threatens Australia's communications to the west with India, the middle east, Suez and the home country.

It is now an easy hop for the Japanese soldier
across Malacca Straits from Singapore to the Dutch East Indies island of Sumatra. Down that 1,000-mile long island he now may attempt to march almost to Java, the heart of the Indies, if he does not choose to go in ships.

From her islands in the north to the corner bastion
at Singapore in the south, Japan now holds the Asiatic coast and its outposts.

The gallant defense at Bataan, which denied to the Japanese the use of Manila Bay, has proved useless.
The Japanese have a better base at Singapore.

Singapore was created by the British from an insignificant fishing village which they acquired by cession
from the sultan of Johore in 1819, and lost in a nine-week campaign.

Sir Stamford Raffles was the founder of the city,
and it grew to a population of 750,000 from the rich
trade that passed between east and west. The British spent $400,000,000 on an elaborate naval base, fortifications, airfields and other defenses, but lacked manpower and planes on the spot to stop an overwhelming Japanese drive through 400 miles of Malay jungle which had been reckoned as one of the major natural defenses
of the stronghold.

CHALK UP ONE FOR THE FBI
There seems to be some difference of opinion about whether the FBI measures up to its press-notice reputation in actual performance.

But faith in the organization begins to be restored
when one reads Laura Ingalls' testimony that on three occasions she offered the FBI services as a counter-espionage agent, and that three times the FBI turned her down.

Miss Ingalls, an amateur flyer who had succeeded in making good a public record for herself as an admirer
of Hitler and Hitlerism even before the war came, was very distinctly not the type. It is reassuring to feel that somebody in the FBI knew it.

It is rather significant that on the 44th anniversary of the blowing up of the U. S. Battleship Maine in the harbor at Havana, Cuba, which was followed by a war between United States and Spain, Singapore capitulated
to the Japanese invaders. Incidentally the community extends a welcome to Department Commander Don F. Manahan, of the United Spanish War Veterans, who will be the guest of honor and principal speaker at the Maine Day observance being held this evening by Lewis
M. Clark Post.

With the state legislature in special session we may expect a little different brand of war news than has been coming over the wires the past month or two.

Those men compelled to register today are reminded that they may do so up until nine o'clock this evening.

T-H-O-U-G-H-T-S

Tender therefore to all their dues: tribute to whom tribute is due;
custom to whom custom; fear to whom fear; honour to whom honour.
—Romeans 13:7.

Man is unjust, but God is just; and many justice triumphs.
—Longfellow.

EDSON'S
WASHINGTON
COLUMN

This is the third of a series on the war's impact on U. S. automobile civilization.

BY PETER EDSON
Times-Mirror Washington
Correspondent

Washington, Feb. 16.—Just as the country's passenger transportation is dependent on the private automobile, so its hauling of goods is dependent upon trucks.
The changing conditions of a war
economy are destined to revolutionize the trucking industry to a degree which few American people realize.

It is estimated there are rolling
over the nation's highways today
some 4.5 million trucks. That's one truck for every 30 people, a ratio nowhere approached in any other country. Of these 4.5 million trucks, more than 2.5 million
are heavy and medium trucks
weighing 8000 pounds or more, the rest light deliveries. Before Pearl Harbor, more than a fourth of these trucks were hauling defense
goods.

In the current truck model year,
ending July 31, the motor truck
industry will turn out 1,189,000
trucks, or 200,000 more than in the preceding model year. By Aug. 1, 1942, there will be an increased 3.7 million trucks on the highway.

There isn't the conversion problem in the truck factories that there is in the passenger automobile industry. Production of light trucks was stopped this month,
but in the medium and heavy industries the shift to war production has meant merely the shift to military models and then full speed ahead with an A-3 priorities
order to insure that they get the necessary raw materials. For a lot of these trucks, however, there are no tires. They'll simply have to go in storage till rubber is available.

To give you an idea of how the
war industries depend on trucks,
consider a few typical war production plants. At the Ford Xpslan-ti bomber plant, a fourth of the raw materials will come in by truck, three-fourths by rail. Outgoing, 60 per cent of the production will move by truck, 40 per cent by air. At the Chrysler tank arsenal in Detroit, 30 per cent of raw materials will come in by truck.

The whole idea of sub-contracting is based on transportation of parts from the sub-contractor to the assembly plant by truck. If the truck transport system breaks
down war production breaks down.
It's that important. War production means nothing unless the goods can be moved.

This is, as Transportation Director
Joseph B. Eastman says, not a job which can be shifted to the railroads. "The fact is," says Eastman, "the railroads themselves are among the largest users of trucks . . . in railroad terminal operations and in substitution
for the old way train freight service."

Next to the heavy industrial truck freight traffic, perhaps the most important truck factor is farm use of such vehicles. One-fourth of all trucks in service today are on farms. According to Robert F. Black, head of White
Motor Company, these farm trucks
haul to market some 27 per cent of the nation's butter, 39 per cent
of its eggs, 40 per cent of the fruit and vegetables, 62 per cent of its cattle, 68 per cent of its hogs, 33
per cent of the total livestock.

Cut down on the farmer's use of trucks and what happens to the nation's food supply? It's a bit to scary to think about.

It is the threatened restriction
on light truck use which hits the urban dweller harder than any other curtailment, for here you get into the whole field of city de-

STAMP NEWS

THE "discovery" of the Amazon
river by Francisco de Orellana Spanish explorer, is commemorated
in a series of eight stamps recently released by Ecuador.

Actual discovery of the Amazon
by Orellana, who was a companion
of Columbus who sighted the river's mouth in 1500.
A small expedition of 50 men
led by Orellana left Guayaquil in May, 1541, to join a larger force headed by Gonzalo Pizarro which left from Quito. Together they started from the eastern slopes of the Andes down thousands of miles to the ocean.

Food became scarce and the expedition separated. Orellana and 37 picked men went down river
in search of provisions and reached the Atlantic in September, 1542, ahead of the other group.

Remnants of Orellana's force,
decimated by disease and Indian attacks, set sail for Spain the next month and announced their discoveries to the Crown the following year.

War, playing hob with the postage of Ethiopia, will result in a postage series soon to be released
honoring the crowning of Emperor Haile Selassie. Expected designs are of Addis Ababa scenes
and interiors and exteriors of the palace.

New issues. Perak brought an 8-cent red into use prior to the Japanese invasion of the Malay States. Ecuador has issued another national defense fund raising stamp which supplements that issued nearly a year ago. The new patriotic stamp, which is obligatory in addition to normal
postage, is a 20-centavo blue picturing a warrior, armed with sword and shield, protecting Ecuatorian women.

DERBY DAY

Maybe you have never been to the Kentucky Derby or drunk a mint julep, but you should be able to answer these questions
about the Blue Grass State:
1. Name the famous composer
who suggested "we will sing one song" for what?
2. What is the largest city in Kentucky? The state capital?
3. Identify the famous appointments of Kentucky governors?
4. What city in Kentucky has the same name as a famous town
of the Revolution in Massachusetts?
5. What small Kentucky college crashed the athletic hall of fame
by defeating Harvard at football
and what was the team's nickname?

RAILROAD FUEL

In 1940, the railroads of the United States used an average of 112 pounds of fuel to move 1,000 tons of freight and equipment one mile. This was a new record low.

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Here is a mythical Manhattan department store that would run
Macy's and all the movie studios between here and Thebes
out of business—if it could be assembled.

Bob Hope would take over the shoe department because once he sold shoes in Cleveland . . . We would let Dorothy Lamour run
the elevators because she used to operate one in Chicago . . . Bing Crosby would be the cashier just
as he used to be in Spokane,
Washington. And Jack Benny
would handle the haberdashery
because, unless he's been telling
some awful whoppers, he learned
how to retail neckties very early in life in Waukegan.

The drug department would be divided equally between Eddy Duchin and Charles Ruggles, as both were pharmacy students in their earlier days . . . Then there would be Madeleine Carroll, who modeled hats in London; George Raft, who used to work in a sporting goods store; Frances Ford, who worked at a hosiery
counter before becoming a picture player; and Cary Grant—he would be chief floor walker—because he used to run a men's store.

THAT would leave the candy
department to Ellen Drew, who once operated a candy business
in Chicago; the musical department to Victor Schertzinger, a fine old ex-piano salesman of talent, and the fashion dept. to Patricia Morrison, an ex-designer
for one of Fifth Avenue's most exclusive stores.

For the holiday rush, we could take on Garbo as a sort of extra added attraction, for she also has modeled and sewed. And Sam Goldwyn could give Benny an assist at the gloves counter, for Sam was a traveling gloves salesman long before he ever thought of going to Hollywood.

ALL the dressing rooms backstage at the Strand, on Broadway, are wanted for different states. When Ozzie Nelson appeared recently he told the management he wanted the warmest room in the place, and they gave him "Florida."

BETTY BRUCE thinks lawyers
should explain technical details in everyday lingo, especially to clients who do not savvy technical terms. She went to her attorney for advice recently, and when he heard her story he launched into a lengthy discussion of the problem using legal terms in a long y. Betty, slightly dazed, cried, "That's wonderful.
That's a wonderful law to protect me."

"You don't understand," the lawyer explained. "That law favors the other side."

EIGHTEEN years ago students
in the Sacred Heart Convent
in London staged an amateur version of "Mid-Summer Night's Dream" . . . Two frightened little girls in the cast exchanged confidences . . . "I'd like to be a real actress some day," said one . . .
"I would too," said the other . . .
One was Vivien Leigh, the other
was Maureen O'Sullivan.

Warren Players Plan Tuesday-Wednesday Try-outs for March; Other Plans in Prospect

Despite the fact that the Warren Players' Club has just expended a great deal of time and energy to produce two very successful performances of "Stage Door," its 30th public production,
plans progress apace for the continuing activities of the organization.

Announcement is made today
that try-outs will be held this week
for the two plays to be presented at the March studio meeting of the club members. Copies of both plays are available for reading before tryouts, it is stated by those in charge.

"The Hand of Siva," a one-act play to be directed by Margaret Lewis, has an all-male cast covering a wide range. All ten members of the club are invited to attend
the try-out at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in the Woman's Club auditorium.

"The Devil on Stilts" is a one-
act play with an all-female cast
and is to be directed by Lester Muthert. At least two of the characters are definitely the glamor girl type. These try-outs will be held in the balcony of the Woman's Club at 7:15 p. m. on Wednesday.

Players and friends are waiting anxiously for announcement by the play-writing group of the 1942
competition winners, judges having received the manuscripts more than a week ago.

Those interested in the workshop group have been reminded that a meeting will be held at the Woman's Club at eight o'clock
Wednesday evening for a stage
reading of a modern play. All are invited.

Already it has been stated that the spring public presentation will

Ida Mae Shaffer Is Bride On Saturday, Of Roger L. Webster

Before an altar decorated with pinks and gladioli, Miss Ida Mae Shaffer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
L. C. Shaffer, of Erie, became the bride of Roger L. Webster, 15 Terrace street, Warren, son of Mr.
and Mrs. H. J. Webster, of Brockway.

The double ring ceremony was performed at noon Saturday in the First Methodist church, Dr. T. E.
Colley officiating. Traditional wedding music was played by Carroll A. Fowler, organist.

Given in marriage by her father,
the bride was attended by Miss Elizabeth Anibaldi, of Punxsutaw-
ney. Gerald Snyder was Mr. Webster's best man and George Toner
was the usher.

The bride wore a suit of brown,
with brown and yellow accessories
and a shoulder corsage of yellow rosebuds. Miss Anibaldi wore brown accessories and pink rose-
buds with a suit of beige.

Following the ceremony, at which were guests from DuBois, Brookway, Erie and New York City,
the couple left for a short wedding trip. They will return to make their home in Warren.

Mrs. Webster is a graduate of Punxsutawney High School and is employed at the court house here.
Mr. Webster, alumnus of Brookville High School, is soloist in the First Lutheran church and is employed by the New Process Company.

CONCERT BOARD HOLDS MEETING

Members of the executive committee of the Warren Concert Association held a meeting Sunday afternoon in the Conservatory
studio of the president, Dr. L. C.
Campbell, for the purpose of discussing plans and artists for next season. It is expected that announcement will be made in the very near future regarding these plans.

Business of the association was transacted, including presentation
of a treasurer's report by Arthur Langdon. The board also voted its full approval and cooperation in the plans of the School Music
Boosters' Club for a municipal auditorium.

Present besides Dr. Campbell
were the following board members:
Mrs. Allie Russell, Mr. Langdon,
Miss Ethel McCray, Mrs. Harriet
Wilkins, Miss Betty Jane Branch,
Mr. and Mrs. Lyle N. Schuler, T. F.
H. Conway, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene

Business Meeting Will Precede Day Of Prayer Program

A business meeting of the Federated Missionary Societies of Warren will precede the annual observance of the World Day of Prayer to be held in the First Evangelical Church at 2:30 p. m.
next Friday. Each church represented in the group is asked to send two representatives to the business meeting at 2 o'clock for the purpose of electing officers for the coming year.

The first Friday of Lent has been observed for the past 25 years throughout the earth as the World Day of Prayer. The same universal worship program will be used. Significantly, this program was prepared by three women now living in the United States: one a former teacher in Gilling College, China now professor in a Biblical Seminary; the wife of a German pastor imprisoned in a concentration camp abroad; her husband in another, both now doing pastoral work in the United States; a French woman who has had no
word from her family in France
for over a year. Out of this rich background of faith in the face
of discouragements and dangers,
they have prepared this 1942 program, which will be used in the local observance on Friday.

A presentation in costume of the four special fields of work supported by the annual World Day
of Prayer offering will be given by Mrs. Ralph Sires of the First Presbyterian church; Mrs. Foster
Maze of the First Baptist Church;
Mrs. Watson Jamieson of the First Evangelical church; and Miss S. B.
Caldwell of the United Brethren church.

The day's observance has widened from year to year, until now
it encircles the earth. In cities and hamlets throughout the United States, increased interest is evident; last year in New York a largely attended service was held for refugees and foreign-born; in

WHAT'S YOUR HURRY?

One of the greatest trials of the doctor is his inability to relieve a condition after making his diagnosis. Any doctor will tell you that one of the hardest patients to handle is one
living under high-pressure—who refuses to slow down.

"Moderation in all things" is the oldest recipe for health.
Moderation in work, play, diet, recreation and rest. Overwork may be mental or physical, and the tissues of the brain as well as the body should be allowed "time out" for rest. Work is not nearly as dangerous to health as worry, and as a matter of fact work within reasonable limits is a good antidote for worry.

However, to accomplish rather than LIVE, is costing too many valuable lives. Life is a one-way street and to "step on it" and rush through at the expense of your health is foolhardy. RELAX AND LIVE! Recreation is a vent for your pent-up energies, and serves as mental ballast to prevent your thoughts and tissues from becoming stale and unhealthy.
Don't even take your sports too seriously! Love play for play's sake. Competition and the intense desire to win can rob play of its value to your health.

What's your hurry? If you rush from bed to shave like mad, work all kind of hours, drive at breakneck speed as a matter of habit, rush through your meals—and sprinkle a lot of worry in between—take an inventory and slow down. Talk to your doctor and let him advise you how to RELAX AND BE HEALTHIER.

AIR RAID ORGANIZATION FULLY ORGANIZED AT STATE HOSPITAL

Outlined from suggestions made by state departments and approved by the Pennsylvania Council of Defense, Warren State Hospital has completed an air raid defense organization within its own personnel which hospital heads feel covers every possible angle of protection and care of the 2,700 patients. They point out that in other countries where air raids have been most commonplace, most hospitals outside the urban areas have not been molested, but are used as direction markers by air-men passing overhead. At the same time, the North Warren staff is taking every precaution necessary for an air raid defense setup, including regular drills in which both employees and patients go through their routine exactly as in an actual bombing attack. These drills have established clearly that no semblance of panic is indicated among the small army of patients because of the alarms. And this is true despite the fact that patients do not know if they are practice or real alarms. Accustomed to years of routine fire drills, all work smoothly in unison and not a single case of fright or hysteria has been noted.

"With our large and overcrowded patient body situation," say those in charge, "it is very apparent that so many persons move rapidly and without confusion from floor to floor during air raid alarms, as is necessary under our protection plans. It is very doubtful whether the average population living outside the hospital would behave as well under stress as does our great patient group."

The hospital's defense organization has been set up in full cooperation with the county council and consists of Chief Air Raid Warden Joseph Gardner, Assistants C. S. Hudson and Gerald Wright, Medical Chief Dr. Leonard Rosenzweig, Fire Chief Douglas Ward, Demolition Chief Arthur Fehlman, Maintenance Chief Henry Otterson and Sector Wardens William Walter, Carl Glans, Floyd Smith, Ed Barrett, Ralph A. Harrah, Walter Stephenson, Kenneth Teacher and Plue Wendelboe.

Dr. Rosenzweig is subject to call anywhere at the hospital or in the county during a raid. Staff Physicians Biddle, Utley, Brickhouse, Bongs, Popp, Dunaway, Braishin, Meyers and DePonceau are to be stationed at points throughout hospital system during raids; while Doctors Kippen and Cummings will have charge of the two mobile units of the defense organization.

Maintenance Chief Otterson is responsible for the power system, including the water works and gas and steam lines, throughout blackouts, fire Chief Ward, for buildings not housing patients, maintenance of the zoning system, and subject to call from Chief Warden Gardner to control local fires anywhere at the hospital. Mr. Fehlman, for all demolition as needed.

Duties of sector wardens consist of spotting hostile aircraft, checking sabotage, evacuation of patient groups to safety zones, giving first aid, fighting all types of fire bombs, each having charge of a unit, and his word being absolute authority in the sector he patrols. After consultation with county officials, Superintendent Robert H. Israel agreed in setting up this separate unit, since the hospital presents problems peculiar to the type of institution it represents. Acting, however, on the assumption that the hospital should be a source of assistance to the surrounding territory, Chairman Alton Gibson was advised that in event of emergency need, hospitalization could be provided for some portion of casualties arising from the civilian population.

Mitchell building and the recently modernized Farm Colony building, two miles beyond the hospital proper, could be utilized partially for such purpose. It is contemplated that several hundred cots could be made available in event of catastrophe.

A group of 3,200 persons, patients and employees, constitutes a heavy potential burden if they are dependent upon the general county organization and establishment of a comprehensive all-hospital system will make the hospital a distinct asset to the defense authorities. Development of the institution's full resources as a community asset is the aim of Superintendent Israel and his staff.

DANGEROUS BAGGAGE

BY ELEANOR ATTERBURY

Chapter 17

The Beans Are Spilled

SHARON had every intention of staying on the alert, using every opportunity to probe Tom's thinking during the drive home. But the drone of the motor, the hypnotism of the good, warm food, the white highway line unrolling steadily in front of them lulled her until she felt her eyelids closing in spite of her. She was so utterly exhausted from the long walk from the excitement of the day's discoveries. And Tom's shoulder was so convenient and comfortable.

The next thing she knew, Tom was shaking her gently. "Wake up, sleepy head. You're home." Still drugged with sleep, Sharon yawned, rubbed her eyes. "You look like a little kid with your cheeks all pink and your hair mussed up like that," he said, almost tenderly.

"Well, I feel like a refugee," she muttered, trying to smooth the tangle of dark curls. Tom opened the car door and she slipped out, dropping with a little cry to a heap at his feet. "Oh—my ankle hurts!" And this time there was no faking it! Pain lanced up her leg and she bit her lip to keep from crying.

Tom picked her up carefully, carried her into the building into the elevator. He still held her in his arms when Dennis answered the door.

"Good night, sis, what's happened?" "Sprained her ankle," Tom answered for her, laid her gently on the old sofa. "And then we had to walk from here to hell-and-gone to get help with the car. I should never have let her walk on it."

Kneeling, Tom pulled off her shoe. "Unfasten your stocking," he ordered calmly, and she glanced at Dennis, thrust out his hand. "You're Dennis aren't you?" "I'm Tom Stafford."

They shook hands. "Glad to know you, Stafford." "Get some hot water and a bucket will you? We'll soak this foot."

"I'm still here," Sharon said in a small voice. "I can still talk." "You're the patient," Tom grinned. "You just do as you're told."

She did, meekly. And the hot water did relieve the ache. And later when Tom pulled down her foot expertly with long strips of bandage, it really felt almost all right.

"Where did you learn to be so handy with a roll of bandage?" she asked him. "Ever been a Boy Scout?" "Well, not lately," she laughed. "Dennis has taught."

"Sure," Dennis nodded. "I learned to cook, too. Suppose I build us all a cup of java and scramble an egg. I don't know about you two, but I'm definitely undernourished."

"If my sister would ever stay home long enough to cook me a decent meal!" "You wouldn't be home to eat it," Sharon finished. "What time did you get through work today?" "Just about an hour ago. Dennis unfolded a card table. You are official toastmaker, Stafford."

"Good. I was hoping I was invited to stay." He pulled a chair up to the table. "I'd begun to think I never would meet my brother Dennis. Thought maybe you were just a handy device for breaking dates."

"Don't mind him, Dennis," Sharon explained. "He's a spoiled child who thinks everyone wants to play in his back yard."

Dennis Talks

"WELL—don't you?" Dennis teased and grinned at Tom like a fellow conspirator. "But say, our own back yard is going to look pretty fancy when we get through clocking up a little more overtime. Every minute since five o'clock today double pay. And a neat little bonus if we get the loot all out of the boxcars by tomorrow night."

"Loot?" Sharon echoed, puzzled. "What—lovely fat bags of golden Montana wheat—all headed for the war countries but sitting down on our wharf right now waiting for a boat?"

"How much?" "See you tomorrow." Tom asked quietly and his usual casualness set off an alarm in Sharon's mind.

"About 20,000 tons. And worth a neat little $800,000 or better. Nobody's supposed to know what it is or where it's going, of course. So, keep it under your hat. Then above the clatter of frying pans out in the kitchen, he shouted back: "Want your eggs scrambled or sunny-side up?"

"Scrambled," Sharon ordered here and wished that didn't apply to her thoughts, too. Something about Dennis' marvelous set-up didn't sound convincing. More than that, if anything he knew was to be "kept under a hat" then Tom was the last person in the world to hear it!

They are a red pink of saboteurs or fifth columnists or just plain cranks down there at the warehouse right now," Dennis rattled on as he dumped the platter of eggs onto the table, pulled up his chair.

And, before Sharon could stop him. They've got enough guns planted around that place to take on a battalion of Japs. Looks like a young arsenal. Guess they'd get plenty tough with anyone who tried to monkey around that wheat."

"Dennis, how long has this coffee been boiling? It's like lye," Sharon put in, frantically trying to stem the tide of information Dennis was pouring so unknowingly, directly into enemy ears. Why hadn't she confided in Dennis, warned him in time!

"Has anyone tried to monkey around it?" Tom drew him on skillfully.

"Not since I've been there, but the boss says we can expect trouble any time."

Sharon grasped the coffee pot. "In the absence of anything else—more Tom!"

Absently, he pushed his cup toward her. "When do they expect to ship the wheat?"

"Deliberately," Sharon poured some of the scalding coffee onto the table. "Oh, mercy. Look what I've done. Get up quick, Tom. Before it spills onto your clothes."

"No harm done," Dennis grabbed a dish towel, mopped up the brown flood. "There's a freight coming in any day now. Probably one of the British boats up in the ship yards for repairs right now, is my guess. They don't tell us anything, of course. Everything is strictly on the Q. T. But of course a guy's got eyes and ears. You pick up plenty around a spot like that."

"I guess you do all right," Tom nodded, pulled out a pipe, filled it deliberately. "I suppose they try to keep it pretty quiet when a big load of stuff like that is going out of the harbor, too, don't they?"

Pumping Dennis

"SURE," Dennis agreed. "No use having it known it would make a good target for a torpedo. Most of the time we don't know ourselves when a boat's going to pull out. We can usually tell, though. They pass out the big guns and tell us to run off anybody that looks suspicious. Then they turn off the lights and out she goes."

Tom scowled. "Isn't that against the law—no lights, I mean?" "Dennis shrugged. "Don't ask me. I'm sure I don't know and I don't ask questions. Not any more. First couple of days I went around asking everybody I saw what was what. Nobody would tell me anything except to shut up. So—I shut up."

"How many boats have left since you have been working there?" "Oh, just two. Couple of little ones. Just small stuff for down the coast."

"Any idea what the cargo was?" "Dennis shrugged. "Don't ask me. I'm sure I don't know and I don't ask questions. Not any more. First couple of days I went around asking everybody I saw what was what. Nobody would tell me anything except to shut up. So—I shut up."

Once again, Sharon tried to divert the conversation. "Dennis if you don't stop drinking that coffee you'll get a headache."

"Sure I will," he reached for the sugar. "Take more than a little java to keep me awake tonight. Boy, I'm tired. And looks like tomorrow would be good for more overtime too."

So alarmed she couldn't swallow the coffee she was pretending to drink, Sharon jumped up from the table, began clearing the dishes.

"Then it's time you were in bed right now. Anyway, it's after midnight. You have a job to get up for tomorrow, don't you?" "Or at least, he goes through the motions of holding down a job."

"That was unkind," Tom said gravely. "I'm hard-working, conscientious, deserving and you should have more respect for me."

"I know you too well," she flipped. "Now go on home."

Tom heaved himself out of the big chair almost reluctantly. "How's the ankle?"

"Oh just fine, thanks." That was an exaggeration but at least it would forestall any further questions.

"Better keep off of it as much as possible. Thanks for the food." "Thank you for the ride," she said, hoping her voice sounded natural. "See you tomorrow."

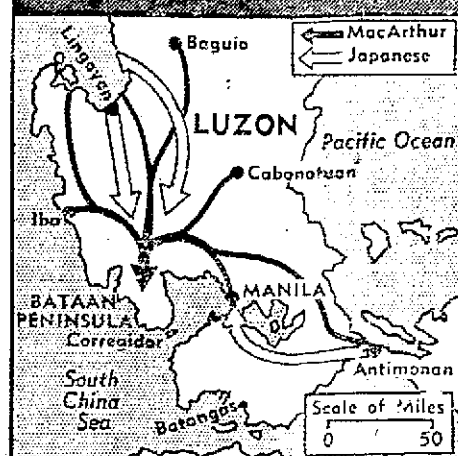

"Right," Tom picked up his hat. "Glad to have met you, Doyle. Goodnight." Then, glancing from one to the other. "And—look where you're going, you two?"

"You bet. Don't take any wood, enickels yourself," Dennis called after him as he went down the hall.

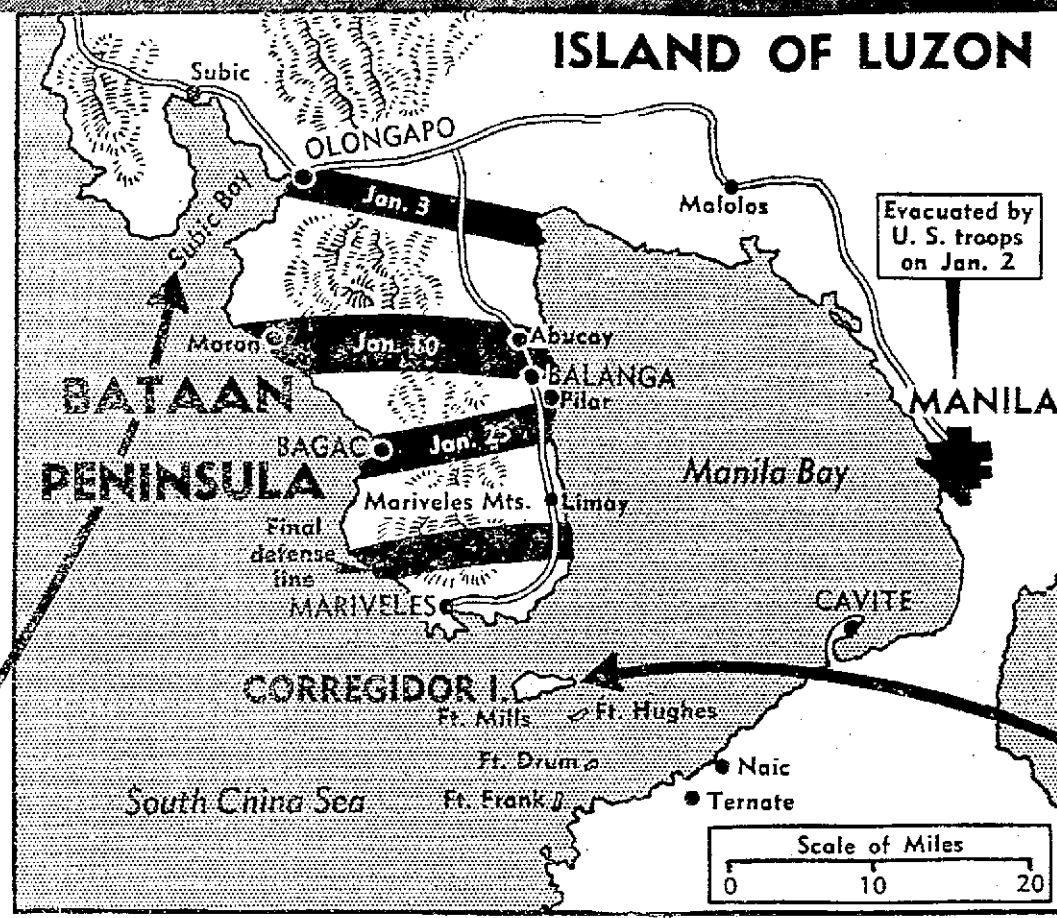

Weak, Sharon collapsed on the sofa. Look where you are going! As if she hadn't tried to! And as if she hadn't stumbled with every step! How could anyone see far enough ahead to take the right step? How did you know when to keep secrets, when to divulge them, when could you trust people and when must you guard against them with every word you uttered?

BATAAN: A New and Glorious Page for American Histories

WITHDRAWAL to Bataan followed this pattern. MacArthur, pressed by Jap landings on Luzon, retired to peninsula and Corregidor.

ON BATAAN PENINSULA, a mountainous, jungled region half the size of Rhode Island, Gen. Douglas MacArthur has commanded American and Filipino troops in a stand rivaling any battle in U. S. history for intensity and heroism. MacArthur's men have stood off land, sea and air assaults with continued tenacity, slowly retiring toward the rocky fortress of Corregidor Island, supply and communications base protecting their rear.

BARRIER of Jap bases and seized areas ringing Bataan has kept aid from reaching Philippines' "doomed but undaunted" defenders.

GUNS of Corregidor and other U. S. forts dueling with Jap artillery across Manila Bay near Ternate, blasted barges lined up for invasion.

DEATH IN THE NIGHT came to bargeloads of Jap invaders in one of Bataan's historic encounters. MacArthur's "air force"—a solitary P-40 pursuit plane—sighted approaching barges off the west coast one night and flashed a warning. American artillery and bombs from the plane smashed and fired the barges, stopped them all short of shore. In the morning there were dead Jap soldiers and smoking ruins of barges on the beach.

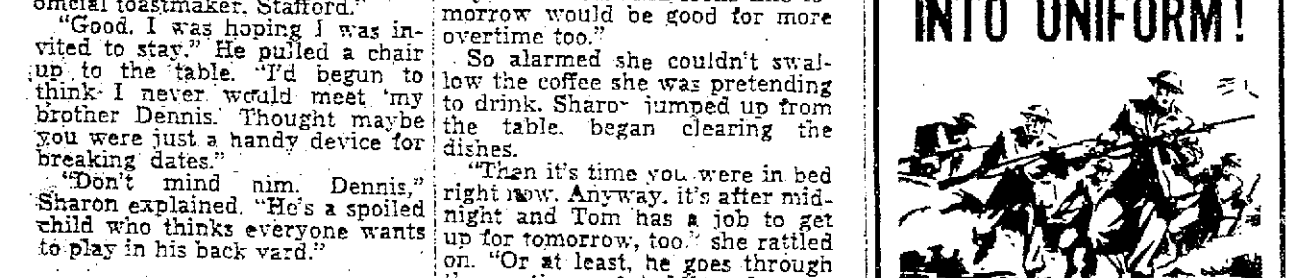

"A BRAVE LOT, not afraid of death," one chronicler called the men with MacArthur. Pressed by 200,000 Japs, they have battled blitz in the jungles of Bataan with the strategy of American frontiersmen. When the enemy charged with planes, tanks, troops, U. S. forces have retired to prepared shelters in the mountain forests, only to emerge, make a stand, then counter-attack and drive the wearying foe back. Anti-aircraft units have bagged many a Jap plane, asked for more; accurate artillery fire has blasted out enemy positions before the attackers could get moving; and plucky Americans and Filipinos still asked to go on the offensive after two months of pounding.

TRIBUTE PAID TO BROTHER OF WARREN WOMAN

A copy of the San Diego Union just received here by Mrs. A. C. Bagnall, West Third avenue, pays a fine tribute to her brother, Maj. Gen. Joseph H. Pendleton, 81, and reputedly the oldest U. S. Marine, whose death occurred on February 4. The Marine leader was the father of Mrs. Albert Rockwell of Warren, who was called to the coast by his passing. Military rites were held on Monday, with burial in Fort Rosecrans National cemetery.

Excerpts from the California paper follow:

Gen. Pendleton, one of the most beloved officers ever stationed in San Diego, was called the father of the marine corps base on Barnett avenue. He worked with the late Rev. William Kettner in selecting the site for the base. He retired in 1924 after 46 years of distinguished service.

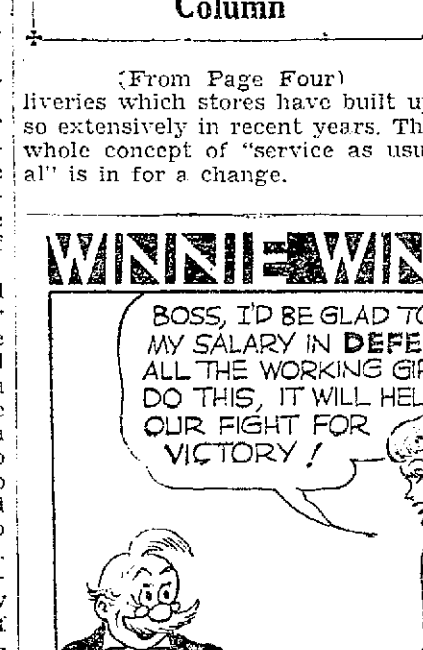

Gen. Pendleton was graduated in 1882 from the Naval Academy and promoted through successive ranks to that of a major general in 1923. He came to San Diego in 1914 as a colonel commanding the famed Fourth Regiment which many years later was sent to Shanghai. He was ordered to Mexican waters and in the World War commanded the marines who restored order in San Domingo. He led an attack on Las Trincheras and Guaymas and on July 6, 1918, received the surrender of the city of Santiago. He was ap-

LEAGUE ATTENTION ATTRACTED BY GAME HERE TOMORROW

Dragons Determined Not to Blow Second Chance to Beat Mighty Bradford Hoopsters

The attention of the entire Northern League will be attracted tomorrow night by the Warren-Bradford return match set for about 8:30 o'clock on Beatty court when it'll be do or die for the local schoolboys, and one of two staunch tests standing between the defending champion Owls and their second loop title, which they'd practically have in the bag with a victory tomorrow night over Sheffield.

The Dragons haven't forgotten that merciless shelling they received back on January 16 at Bradford, when the Owls clipped them 32-22 and shattered the Kopien charges' hopes for first half honors, but now with a loss to Sheffield already blotting their second half books, there'll be little to lose tomorrow night and everything to gain with a victory over Coach Harold Brace's stellar quintet.

Casting aside all the fright that was present in their first meeting and which proved to be a great asset in helping the champs win the contest, the Blue and White hoopsters are determined to gain revenge and do it decisively tomorrow night.

Primed for battle and at full strength again, with both Bob Wright and Dean Nelson ready to do their best to help the local cause, the men of Brace can expect a better battle and a harder game than they experienced on their home court last month.

Warren learned a couple of lessons in how to play the game at the hands of Bradford and Sheffield, and they will go out on the court tomorrow night with one thing in mind, to make this season a successful one by winning the decision they want most of all.

The heavily favored Bradford team, however, can't be altogether scoffed at in the pre-game consensus of opinions for, any team that can score 189 points in three tussles, a feat just completed by the Owls with their Friday night victory over Kane, must have something other than a prayer to offer in the way of competition.

Moreover, while the titlists were compiling this huge total, they also held their three respective foes, Ridgway, Emporium and the Wolves, to a compiled total of only 45 markers, defensive prowess aplenty.

A capacity crowd is expected to come out for the last top-flight cage presentation in sight on the W. H. S. schedule this year, and with the result holding in it the fates of both the Dragons and the Owls, the game can also be expected as the most important encounter on the program here this campaign.

Tomorrow night's preliminary will get under way at 7:30 o'clock sharp, with the main game set for 8:30.

Sheffield will visit Kane Johnsonburg will go to Ridgway and St. Marys awaits the call of Emporium in other league contests.

REFORMED LEW JENKINS READY FOR SERVO BOUT

Philadelphia, Feb. 16.—(P)—Lew Jenkins, who used to do his training in the night clubs, now goes to bed at 8 p. m. and that's no fooling.

The reason is that the former lightweight champion from Sweetwater, Tex., knows he stands at the crossroads of his boxing career when he meets Marty Servo, of Schenectady, N. Y., in a 10-round or tomorrow night at the Arena.

For the last week the lean Texan who dropped his crown to Sammy Angott in Madison Square Garden, has been taking his workouts seriously.

No more night life for him, Jenkins declares. He wants to get back into the big time.

MICHIGAN YOUTH AND HOGAN TIE IN TEXAS OPEN

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 16.—(P)—A few minutes it seemed that Ben Hogan, golf's top money winner, had overcome his jinx and won his first major golf tournament in his home state.

He checked in yesterday with a 272, 12 under par for the 72 holes of the Texas Open, a score the gallery conceded clinched the title for him.

But Melvin (Chick) Harbert, a Michigan youth playing his second year as a professional, buried five of his last seven holes for a six under par 65 for the round, forcing the veteran into an 18-hole playoff.

Winner of the playoff receives $1,000 and the runner up $750.

One stroke off the leaders was Slammin' Sammy Snead with 273. He missed an 18-foot putt on the last hole that would have put him in a three-way tie for the lead.

Tournament money-winners included:

Henry Ranson, Philadelphia, $875; Sam Byrd, Ardmore, Pa., $425.50; Jack Groat, West Pitts., $390.

Two Exhibitions to Be Given by Mosconi

Pocket billiard fans of Warren and vicinity will have an opportunity tomorrow night to see the 1940-41 world's pocket billiard champion in action at the Warren Billiard Academy when Willie Mosconi engages Gus Cottillon, local star, at 8:30 p. m. in an exhibition open to the public.

Mosconi, boy wonder of yesterday and champion of today, won the title in a league tournament by 32 games, held from Dec. 1940, to May 1941, and during the progress of the tournament last year he ran out nine championship contests of 125 points in one inning.

In the most recent tournament for the championship, Mosconi tied the famed Erwin Rudolph for the title, losing in the playoffs.

It is also reminded that Elks club members may have an opportunity to see the popular cut artist when he gives a later exhibition tomorrow night at the local Elks Club, to start at 10 o'clock.

Pitcher Lloyd Dietz Signs Buc Contract

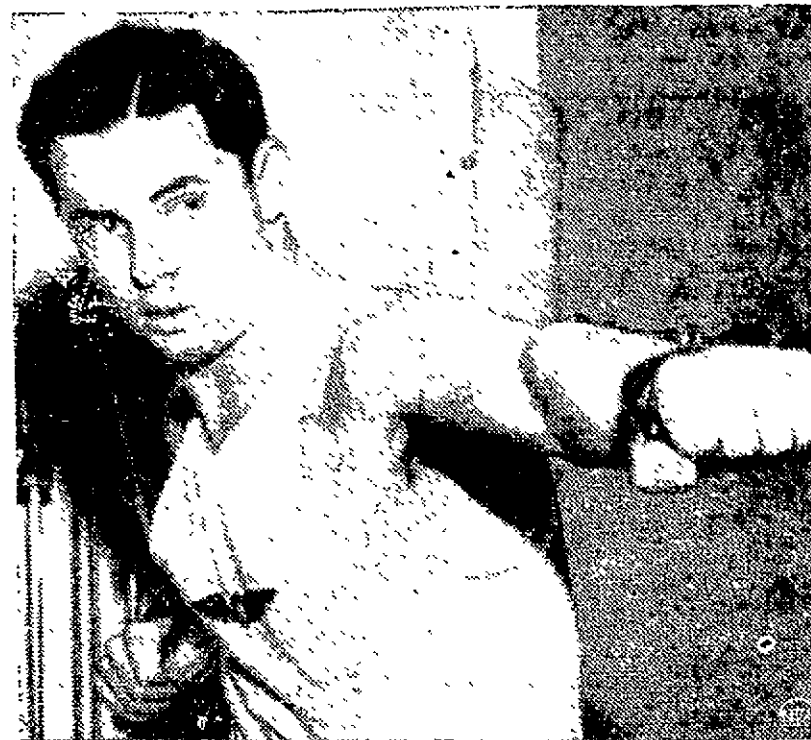

Pittsburgh, Feb. 16.—(P)—The Pittsburgh Pirates today announced receipt of the signed contract of Lloyd Arthur Dietz, 28-year-old right-hand pitcher who is regarded as one of Frankie Frisch's best slab bats for 1942.

Suddenly finding himself last season, Dietz won seven games and lost two. His earned-run average of only 2.34 equaled the mark of Whit Wyatt and Elmer Riddle, leaders of the National League hurlers who worked in 10 or more complete games. Dietz resides in Beaumont, Tex.

EAGLES PREPARE FOR 2ND SCRAP WITH ST. JOE'S Tumbling Champ This Year

Old City St. Joseph's, the team who dealt Youngsville its first loss of the campaign after the Eagles' had run up a string of eight successive victories back in December, invades the Red and White court tomorrow night for what should be the outstanding home court attraction on the Youngsville program this season.

By far the busiest schools, passers in the area, the Old City crew is also one of the strongest, and they'll be out to make it two in a row over the charges of Coach Harry Stockdale when the two clubs clash at about 8:30 tomorrow evening.

It is expected that Youngsville will start a thrup of Meelen and Jack Schumacher at forwards, with possibly Sherry Abernethy taking the place of one of these players. Dave Clark at center, and Johnson and Wingard at the guards.

The many followers of Harold Zimmerman, former state scholastic tumbler champion under the guidance of Warren's outstanding gymnastics mentor, Coach Homer W. Fleming, is reported by his former tutor to be hot on the trail of becoming National Collegiate champion before his first competitive year with the Penn State gym team comes to a close this spring.

In a meet against Temple on Saturday at State College, "Zimmar" continued on his unbeaten way when he met Temple's highly regarded George Zypala, twice National A. A. U. champion, who won at Chicago in 1940 and at New York last year. Zimmerman defeated the Temple ace by seven points, a considerable margin considering the keen competition found in collegiate gym meets.

Pride of the Penn State team, the former Dragon mat artist has overtaken a teammate who last year was Eastern Intercollegiate champion, in every one of four meets to date, and has piled up more points individually than any other member on the Nittany Lion squad.

Zimmerman has won undisputed firsts on the mats against Chicago and Princeton so far, and Minnesota's Kneel Loken, and also has done remarkably well in his efforts on the parallel and high bars.

The Penn State team has yet to meet Navy and Army, two of this year's program, after which they'll engage in the Intercollegiate to be held at Philadelphia.

Zimmerman is highly favored to continue his success in the coming events with the Navy and Army, and will meet the only remaining top notch tumbler with whom he has not come in contact, the University of Illinois' Jack Adkins, when the Intercollegiate are held March 11.

Coach Fleming, who went to the State College Saturday to judge the Temple event and out against Zimmerman, and another former student, Edwin Anderson, was accompanied by some of this year's high school squad, who'll start competition soon and will attempt to defend the state title which has been held by Warren for the past two years.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR., Wide World Sports Columnist

New York, Feb. 16 (Wide World)—Unanswered questions: how high can Cornelius Warrendam pole vault? Well, after coming as close as he did to 15-10 Saturday night we don't see what will stop him short of his 16-foot goal. Who is going to beat Greg Rice? Best answer seems to be "nobody." Maybe after he quits two-miling Kil Daddis will catch up to his performances.

How are they going to build up a Joe Louis-Billy Conn championship fight for next June? Lastest report is that Billy Conn will fight either Lou Nova or Gus Lesnevich in an attempt to show that he's better than he looked against Tony Zale Friday. Who is the No. 1 man in the fight business? To you don't know that one, you should have been at the Gardens Friday. The fans forgot all about a rip-roaring scrap between Jimmy Webb and Johnny Colan to stand up and stare when Private Joe Louis Barrow, looking every much like a soldier, came down the aisle.

Today's Guest Star

Jim Wray, St. Louis Post-Dispatch: "If Coach Earl Shotton, as reported by Burl himself, is drawing $15,000 a year salary from Cleveland, what will the Indians' new manager, Lou Bordeau, draw? Probably a long breath."

Monday Matinee

Boston hockey writers didn't wait until the end of the season to award the Du Fresnois trophy to the most valuable player this year. They unanimously voted for the three "Kraut" kids. Mrs. Don Faurot, wife of the Missouri coach, wears a bracelet with 11 gold footballs earned by her husband attached to it and has a couple of spares. Jack Dempsey will fly to Denver to help big defense bond drives there Feb. 25.

Wayne U. at Detroit, who limbed to the top in collegiate swimming during the past few years, may cut its schedule to almost nothing because the war and ineptitude have left only one veteran on the squad. Ed Beckman, son of the old-time pro basketball star, is only a sub on the Panzer college team in New Jersey. The Reds pulled the band out when baseball games should start under war time and gave a 5-1 vote in favor of the usual 3 p. m. weekdays and 2:30 Sundays.

CONN DID FAIR JOB WITH TONY ZALE BUT MIDDLEWEIGHT CHAMP WEATHERED BILLY'S BEST AND CAME ON FOR MORE

Billy Conn disposed of Tony Zale easily enough last Friday night, but not impressively enough to gain the cheers of his ever before mammoth following in New York. Instead, when the fight was over and they raised Conn's hand, only possible decision to the judges, the crowd booed the Pittsburgh Kid so he won't soon forget it. It is possible that a lot of money was lost through the fact that Billy failed to win by a knockout because the only kind of betting being done for the most part was that the fight wouldn't go the distance. At 6 to 1 odds, they weren't many takers who honestly and unceasingly would have wanted their dough on the clever and sharp hitting middleweight champion. Billy didn't take much out of Conn, if anything, and Sweet William showed that at times with spurs that saw him stagger Zale and bring fans to their feet, but the orchids went to Tony, who, not by anything except the ring posts in three distinct rounds, and looking to and from on his rubbery legs, just wouldn't go down before Conn's best two-fisted attack. Conn, outside of not finishing Zale before the end of the scheduled route, was quite impressive, showing his boxing skill, fighting his way out of trouble, but was confused by Zale's bobbing-weaving style. Private Joe Louis Barrow, who was there, however, might have learned enough about boxing aside of Billy's guard from Zale's cagey performance to spell blackout for the Pittsburgh challenger come June.

Well, the time has come for the second Northern League tea party between Bradford's Owls and Warren High school's Dragons, and with just a few of the formalities reversed, such as the Kolpiemmen getting set to do the pointing on this occasion (we hope it's the basketball through the loop about every 10 or 20 seconds), for the most part the contest should be quite the same as that at Bradford—outside of the fact that Warren, this writer doesn't believe, will get beat quite so badly this time. In the first place, on Beatty gym, one of the three mammoth courts in the circuit, you'll find the highest ceiling and the best layout in the loop, also. And you shall find that if the Dragons can play basketball at all, they can play best and will play best against Bradford on their own court. There's no reason for the Kolpiemmen to start quivering around the knees, as they admitted they did at Bradford, in their meeting with the Owls here tomorrow night. For, if the locals lose, then they might just as well put the suits back in mothballs and close the books for this campaign. But, if they should trip up the Bracemen, something no team has been able to do in 14 tests of the defending champions up to now, they'll be back in the league fight with a practical sure-thing ticket on into the league playoffs, at least. On the other hand, Bradford not only must be careful of its steps on Beatty court tomorrow night, but faces Joe Massa's improved Sheffield Wolverines on the Red and Black court come Friday. So, Dragons, get your anti-aircraft guns working tomorrow night.

Scoutin' the Sports Front.—Willie Mosconi, who will appear at the Elks Club tomorrow night to give a pocket billiards exhibition, was 1940-41 world's champion. He won his title in a league tournament by 32 games. During the progress of the affair he ran out nine championship contests of 125 points in one inning. Along the bowling front. If you'll notice the stangers, the Times-Mirror Arcade and Elks teams are leading their respective leagues at the same time now, the first time this has happened this season. Arcade boys are well in front while the team at the Elks holds a lead of 15 percentage points over the second place Tilters. Paul Waver confidently states he expects to get hit No. 3,000 before 1942 is over. "Throwing out" injuries, I've got it in the bag," the Boston Braves' outfielder said, when told that a recent checkup showed he needs only 44 base hits to make the grade. The older of the Warner brothers hopes to play in 125 games this year, but says if he gets in only 60 he should be lucky enough to get the needed number of bingles. Faults probably will work a ten-club farm system this year, having dropped Alton, O., from the Class C Middle Atlantic League and Norfolk, Neb., in the Class D Western League, the latter club having folded.

PROS WERE LEAST SURPRISED WHEN JOHNNY DAWSON BEAT GOLF'S ACES IN BING CROSBY OPEN WITH AN 11-UNDER-PAR 133. DAWSON HAS BEEN ONE OF THE BEST FOR YEARS, BUT INSISTS UPON SIMON-PURE ASTERISK, THOUGH INELIGIBLE FOR NATIONAL AMATEUR BECAUSE HE IS GOOD WILL AMBASSADOR FOR SPORTING GOODS FIRM.

T-M Review of Weekend Sports

Warren—Coach "Heinie" Kolpien and nine varsity members of the Dragon cage squad enjoy basketball doubleheader at Buffalo, where Canisius and Long Island University steal the show. Claire Bee's L. I. U. hoopsters winning a 46-43 decision over the Griffs.

Miami, Fla.—The famous Alsab, two-year-old champion of the turf, runs out of the money for the second time in as many starts as a three-year-old, finishing fourth in mediocre race. Jockey Eddie Artero was up, but Alsab failed in the stretch despite the famous rider's efforts.

New York—The colorful career of Jack Munroe, who fought such ring greats as Peter Maher, Jim Jeffries, Jack Johnson and Tom Sharkey, saw service with the famous Princess Pats in the first World War and met success as a gold miner, ended Saturday night with his death at the age of 67.

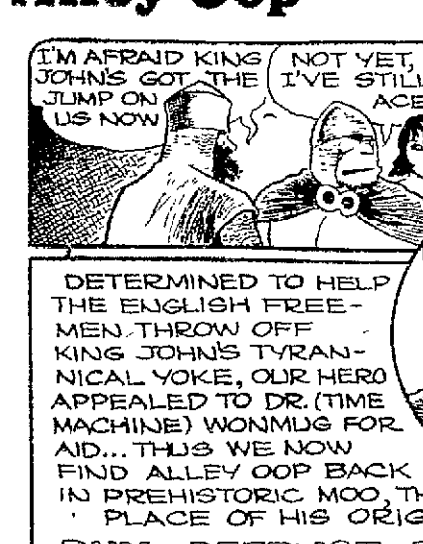

San Antonio, Tex.—Wee Ben Hogan wands up with 272, 12 strokes under par, in 72-hole Texas Open, but is tied with Chick Harbert, youthful Michigan golfer, necessitating playoffs for honors today.

Cleveland—Roy Weatherly, speedy Cleveland outfielder, surprised baseball fans Saturday when he returned his 1942 contract to the Indians front office with his name signed to it.

Oakland, Calif.—Ernie Lombardi, traded by Cincinnati to the Boston Braves, in a surprise baseball transaction, has received a contract from his new club but has not signed, according to latest reports over the weekend.

Automotive trailer registrations in the United States during 1940 totaled 1,298,000.

broadcast in which he called for a United Britain to meet the Axis on all fronts.

It now remains to be seen how strong is the British faith in Churchill's leadership.

Meanwhile, Japan celebrated. Col. Hideo Chiara, chief of the army press section, broadcast that "the passing of the British stronghold into Japanese hands not only is a striking blow to the Allies but seriously impedes communications between their territories in the Indian and Pacific oceans. Japan is in position to control the fate of India and Australia."

The Japanese said unofficially that their captives in surrendered Singapore numbered 60,000 men and that the million inhabitants of the island included 100,000 British. London held no hope that any large force had escaped, for the Singapore strategy had called for a fight to the end.

The battle of Australia was seen as inevitable and impending.

On the Burmese front, where the Japanese are seeking to close the Burma supply road to China and to force a land gateway to India, the battle for the east coast of the Gulf of Martaban neared a climax. The Japanese were striking in two directions at Thalon, 40 miles northwest of Martaban on the Rangoon railroad.

Whether the Republican organization, headed by Torrance, formally endorse a slate of candidates as was done last year, has yet to be developed.

The insurgent new guard group, headed by F. Stephen Stahlacker, has announced the faction will put a complete primary ticket in the field, including candidates for the state committee.

ATTORNEY GENERAL IS IN SERIOUS CONDITION

Allentown, Feb. 16.—(P)—Attorney General Claude T. Reno of Pennsylvania was reported seriously ill in Allentown hospital today.

He is suffering from an abdominal ailment, the hospital reported, but the exact nature of the trouble was not immediately determined.

Reno's personal physician, Dr. Robert Schaeffer, chief of staff at the hospital, said the 59-year-old attorney had shown slight improvement in the last 24 hours but that he still was in a serious condition.

There were 45,020 miles of paved streets in the United States in 1940.

Reliance Urged by Churchill

squadron in slipping home through the English channel in defiance of Britain's home defenders; he did not mention apan's growing threat to Burma; he touched but briefly on the dark picture in Libya.

Some Britons regarded the government's silence on details of Singapore's downfall as a wise security measure for the present and reserved judgment.

With the exception of Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express, however, all London newspapers which took a stand expressed misgivings and hinted at a rising clamor for change which may reach as far as Downing street.

There was abundant evidence that Churchill may be facing one of the stormiest political battles of his career when the house of commons meets.

Opposition elements were rallying steadily around Sir Stafford Cripps, the renowned former ambassador to Moscow, who has stayed outside the government as a critic.

Although the prime minister was expected to make a full statement on the escape from Brest of the Nazi battleships Gneisenau and Scharnhorst and the heavy cruiser Prinz Eugen in order to forestall criticism, it was probable that the opposition would try to get a general debate on both sides.

Even more than the defeat of Singapore which, after all, the empire had been prepared to hear, the people were smarting under the naval upset and in some quarters where Churchill's popularity had been strongest the Nazi ships' dash to freedom caused the greatest misgivings.

considering anti-sabotage legislation and empowering county commissioners to provide funds for local defense.

His message to the lawmakers will be delivered Tuesday night and will be broadcast.

The parole law postponement already has drawn the fire of Rep. Samuel M. Rosenfeld (D-Phil.), sponsor of the bill in the last session. He disagreed with the governor's contention that the system should not be changed in wartime and said that made the new plan more necessary.

Any bill postponing the parole act must get by the Democratic controlled house. Republicans have a majority in the senate. Achterman said he was having a congressional reapportionment bill drawn in conformity with agreement between party leaders.

Under the plan, Republicans would give up district in the northern tier. Democrats would eliminate one in Allegheny county, and one congressman would be elected at large.

Three vacancies exist in the house.

Situation In Burma Obscure

(A London military commentator said that the fighting was "obscure" and that Thalon might now be in Japanese hands.)

Bangkok, Burma, Feb. 15.—(P)—British imperial troops, supported by volunteer American and Canadian flyers, were locked in fierce combat today with two Japanese columns striding across southern Burma toward Thalon, 40 miles northwest of fallen Martaban on the Rangoon railway.

Capture of Thalon would pave the way for a Japanese thrust along the rail line to Pegu, 40 miles away and on the main Burma road, which the invaders hope to cut and thus lose the backdoor supply route to China.

A lone military commentator said today the situation was obscure in the Paan sector of Burma's Salween river front and it was not known definitely whether the defense forces still held Thalon.

The chief Japanese threat appeared to be developing in the vicinity of Dyuizhail, six miles east of Thalon, toward which one column was striking from a bridgehead on the west bank of the Salween river near Paan, about six miles farther east.

The other Japanese column attempting to fight its way up the coast from Martaban, aided by landing parties put ashore from small boats in Martaban gulf.

operate under the direction of the governor of Curacao.

Aruba's area is about 70 square miles. Curacao's harbor nearby has long been an important shipping center, with many tankers calling to load Venezuelan oil refined there for the eastern U. S. seaboard and other markets.

Both Aruba and Curacao refine high octane (aviation) gasoline taken from the big wells in Venezuela and Colombia in vast quantities for American defense and the Allied war machine.

Recently the Lago Company, the Standard Oil subsidiary on Aruba, announced plans for expansion of its aviation gasoline facilities and the building of a new $10,000,000 processing plant there.

The Royal Dutch Shell Oil Company has some of its largest refineries on Curacao, supplying more than one-third of the oil for the British navy.

Demands On Vichy Predicted

Although Singapore's ultimate fall was discounted a week ago, the official loss of the bastion yesterday was black tidings, and a jubilant Tokyo radio rubbed it in with the galling reminder that the smugness and over-confidence of the Anglo-American front were responsible in part for the repeated allied setbacks in the Pacific.

In the face of the Pacific situation, Washington found little comfort in immediate domestic developments concerned with the long-pull prosecution of the war.

At another time there might have been special satisfaction in the fact that in the Saturday-through-Monday period the 6,000-ton cruiser Juncos was commissioned, the 35,000-ton battleship Alabama and a destroyer were launched, and final preparations were being completed for start of work on another new 45,000-ton battleship.

Istanbul, Feb. 15.—(Delayed)—(P)—New information brought here by travelers today told of German preparations in southeast Europe, part of them apparently aimed at a spring offensive in Russia but other difficult to explain as other than groundwork for a drive against Turkey.

A further report in shipping circles said the Bulgarian army, short on mechanized equipment, has just received 1,000 motorcycles and a number of bicycles and radios delivered by sea from Italy.
